Medical spanish classes bay area

For those health professionals who want to be able to operate fluently in Spanish in their chosen area, the Professional Medical Spanish Program is the ideal course of online study. Because it is a dedicated and intensive course we only offer it to those who already have a reasonable interemmediate level of Spanish. This course has 80 hours of live classes that can be fitted around your schedule. We recommend 2-hour classes two or three times a week to be able to maintain a good level of immersion in the materials. In addition your teacher will offer you a wealth of extra materials that you can use to study on your own. These include written and spoken dialogs and videos, charts, peer-reviewed articles, and interesting web sites with relevant materials to your professional area. Students whose Spanish level is more basic are recommended to take our Introductory Medical panish Program. This consists of up to 3 modules of 20 hours of classes each, and combines regular Spanish learning with an emphasis on medical terminology, vocabulary and usage. Click here for more information. As a med student and an intern in a busy inner-city emergency room it has been vital for me to understand quickly what new arrivals are saying as nearly half of them are hispanic. The professional program was hard but excellent and now I feel much more confident in dealing with Spanish-speaking patients. Other staff ask me to help them out sometimes which is very satisfying! All the teachers who teach the Professional Medical Spanish Program have taken a training course to be able to offer these classes. The first step is to sign up for a free trial Spanish class. There is no obligation on your part to continue studying, but it will offer you the opportunity to experience learning Spanish online. You will be able to discuss your needs with your teacher and decide what your next steps in learning Spanish will be! ¡oYe! Spanish is proud to offer its Professional Medical Spanish Course to doctors, medical students and health professionals. This is an 80-hour course of online study for those who already speak at least intermediate Spanish that can accommodate a wide range of medical specialties. Course Highlights: Eighty hours of live classes. Requires at least an intermediate level of Spanish to take full advantage of the course. Comes with: a full set of medical charts of the human body, practice exercises, manuals of medicine in specialty areas, audio recordings of the dialogs presented in the texts, a book of medical readings, tests of medical knowledge in Spanish, videos of consultations and medical conversations, a collection of web links on specific topics and areas, the above materials for download to keep. Call us to register or if you have any questions: TOLL FREE: 877-251-8353 LOCAL: 510-223-3320 Whether you are a beginner, intermediate, or advance learner, Varsity Tutors has a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish course that could have a positive impact on your studies. Learning a new language has its challenges at any level, and one of the ways you can overcome those challenges and progress faster in your language skills is to have formal lessons with experienced, trained, and qualified teachers. That's because a qualified language teacher will know how to explain different aspects of the language that may be difficult for learners. Also, you can receive personalized and customized attention that may not be possible through traditional classroom lessons. Learning Spanish through a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish class can provide a lot of benefits. Many high school students in schools like James Logan High School and Berkeley High School may find Spanish to be a very useful second language since it is the second most spoken language in the US. For college students in schools like Stanford University and The University of California - Berkeley, Spanish can also be a very useful language once they pursue their professional career because it is the second most widely spoken language on the planet after Mandarin Chinese. When starting your Spanish lessons, it is very important to do it right the first time. This means learning the fundamentals of the language from expert teachers who can spot your mistakes quickly and correct you accordingly. Once you learn something that's incorrect with language, it may be hard to undo, especially if you have gotten used to saying things in a particular way. Having a solid foundation with your basic Spanish is key to speaking beautifully and being able to use it in your personal life or professional career. With a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish course through Varsity Tutors, you can have high-quality language lessons at any level. What material will a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish course cover? Spanish derived many of its grammar rules and syntax from Latin, and around 75% of Spanish words have Latin roots. It is also a Romance language along with French, Italian, and Portuguese. Though the grammar and sentence structures may be different from English, it is still considered one of the easiest languages for English speakers to learn. In your Spanish course, you can expect to cover the basics of the language such as nouns, adjectives, and verbs. For nouns in Spanish, you have to pay attention to the gender of the nouns since Spanish is a gender-based language. Your experienced Spanish instructor can help you better understand the genders of nouns, the rules that govern genders, and how you must conjugate verbs and adjectives based on the gender and number of the noun. You will also learn some of the exceptions to the rule as you proceed through your studies. Aside from nouns, you'll need to have a firm understanding of adjectives. Adjectives in Spanish change depending on the gender and number of the noun it is describing. Though this can sound like a lot to handle, especially for beginners, you can always practice with your teacher and classmates to get a better grasp of the adjective forms. Other topics that you can work on in a course include verb conjugation, pluralization, and pronunciation. You will also learn more complex vocabulary as you progress through the Spanish course levels. There will be plenty of opportunities for you to apply what you have learned in class through writing, reading, and conversation exercises. How will a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish class help me learn? Every student has his or her own way of learning effectively. With a Spanish course through Varsity Tutors, your professional language instructor can help you discover the most effective way you learn concepts and help you hone the skills you already have when it comes to Spanish. You will have other classmates in the course, but if you think you need your instructor's help to work through some areas of weakness, you can request one-on-one time to gain additional assistance. Having access to Spanish lessons could also help make it easier for you to practice and ultimately understand topics faster than if you were just studying on your own. When you enroll in a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish class, you will be able to study at a time that works best with your current schedule. That's because the class is offered entirely online, which provides flexibility and eliminates the hassles of commuting to a traditional classroom. Many adult learners, especially working professionals, get discouraged from learning a foreign language simply because they cannot find a lesson that fits their busy schedule or it becomes too much of a bother to commute to school. Since our classes don't require you to take extra time from your day to travel to a classroom, you gain more time to study or to utilize for other personal activities. Another good thing about our online Spanish course is that it is still very interactive, and you can engage in language learning activities similar to the way you would in a traditional classroom. You will work on speaking, writing, reading, and listening with your expert instructor and fellow students. This means you can have real opportunities to practice and converse in Spanish while learning from the questions and input of other students. How can I get signed up for a course? If you wish to receive more information about a Spanish course, then the educational consultants at Varsity Tutors can help. We have courses that start on a monthly schedule, and you can choose from weekday or weekend courses. If you are looking for a class that starts at a particular time of the day, such as morning, lunchtime, or evening, we can help you find one that best fits into your individual schedule. If you want to learn more information regarding the benefits of our Spanish course or particular course availability, contact Varsity Tutors today. We can enroll you in a San Francisco-Bay Area Spanish course that could help you get closer to achieving your language learning goals.
